

International Practicum

NIE welcomes student teachers from our partner universities to Singapore to do their teaching assistantship (TA) training.

Objectives of Teaching Assistantship (International)

The basic TA objectives are for student teachers to:

- develop their observation and reflection skills as they observe experienced teachers at work;
- gain practical experiences from helping experienced teachers in lesson planning, preparation of teaching materials, managing students, and executing various teaching activities or strategies;
- acquire a general understanding and appreciation of the professional roles and responsibilities of a teacher.

With international TA, student teachers are given the additional opportunity to:

- experience school and classroom environments of a different educational system and culture;
- broaden and diversify their contextualized knowledge of teaching and learning;
- add a global dimension to their perspective on education and education systems;
- develop into a more global-minded and culturally-sensitive individual;
- forge international friendships.
