

OCCRL Twitter Chat

#RaceandCCs

Race and Community Colleges

Monday, December 19, 2016

12pm- 1pm CST

American community colleges have long been committed to advancing access, broadening participation, and educational outcomes for diverse learners. However, postsecondary education equity gaps persist within and between groups. Join us in a Twitter Live conversation regarding the role of two-year colleges, the research, policy, and leadership community in fostering equity and educational success for all.

Dr. J. Luke Wood and Dr. Glenda Bivens will share highlights from their new work featured in Overcoming Educational Racism in the Community College: Creating Pathways to Success for Minority and Impoverished Student Populations edited by Angela Long.

Use #RaceandCCs to participate.

OCCRL

Office of Community College
Research and Leadership

Join the Moderators

J. Luke Wood

Associate Professor and Director
Community College Equity
Assessment Lab (CCEAL)
San Diego State University
Follow @jlukewood

Glenda Bivens

Community Development
Specialist
Iowa State University
Follow @glenda_bivens

Eboni Zamani-Gallaher

Director, OCCRL
University of Illinois
at Urbana-Champaign
Follow @emzgallaher

Randi Congleton

Research Assistant, OCCRL
University of Illinois
at Urbana-Champaign

Follow us on Twitter @occr1